

Second call for papers

Nordic Prosody XIV · 18–20 August 2026 · Stockholm

Key facts

All deadlines are 23:59 Anywhere on Earth (AoE).

Website	npxiv.nordicprosody.org (https://npxiv.nordicprosody.org/)
Place	Campus, KTH Royal Institute of Technology, Stockholm, Sweden
Hosts	Dept. of Speech, Music and Hearing (TMH), KTH
Date	18–20 August 2026 (lunch to lunch)
Abstract submission	21 May 2026
Notification of acceptance	5 June 2026
Registration deadline	17 July 2026 (at least one author per accepted contribution)
Registration fee	100 EUR (students) / 200 EUR (non-students). ISCA members pay EUR 180 and 90, respectively.
Full paper submission (optional)	November 2026
Templates	Templates
Submission	EasyChair (https://easychair.org/conferences/?conf=np14)

Scope

We invite submissions for papers on all aspects of prosodic research concerning Nordic languages and languages spoken around the Baltic Sea. We welcome papers on both phonetic and phonological analyses of prosody, including but not limited to: perception and production of prosody, rhythm and intonation, prosody in speech synthesis and speech recognition, the semantics and pragmatics of prosody, the acquisition of prosody, and cross-linguistic comparisons of prosody.

Invited speakers

Julia Hirschberg, Columbia University
Tomas Riad, Stockholm University

Participation

The conference will be held in person only. At least one author of each accepted paper must register for and present at the conference venue.

Submissions

Abstracts may be up to two pages long and must follow the templates that are available on the conference website's submissions page.

Proceedings

There will be an opportunity to publish a full paper in the conference proceedings volume after the conference. Since 2022, full papers are published with open access (in 2022 with Gruyter/Sciendo). Further information will be provided on the website.

Contact

npxiv@nordicprosody.org